Further Information

This qualification is intended for people who work in the hospitality sector in any role up to supervisory level. Learners demonstrate skills and ability through units grouped to suit their own occupational area. These units cover the wide range of skills required to work in the hospitality industry. There is a wide range of optional units for multi skilled staff.

New food safety units have been developed in conjunction with the food standards agency and a unit covering healthier options has also been developed in line with current government initiatives.
