SAFEGUARDING CORNER

Preventing Radicalisation

This week we are re-visiting a topic from 12 months ago, preventing children from developing extreme views and becoming involved with extreme groups.

As we always say in safeguarding corner; any of this could happen to any of our pupils; whether in school or out of school, whether on-line or in person, whether they are making great academic progress or are not yet on track, whether they attend well or need to improve attendance.

Prevent is a government strategy initiated in 2011 and is designed to stop people, including school aged pupils, becoming terrorists or supporting terrorist or extremist causes. The Prevent strategy covers all types of terrorism and extremism, including from the extreme right wing which is thought to be a growing area of concern in the UK.

Approaches to young people by extreme groups often start by attempting to develop a shared and increasing hatred towards a group of other people based on their religion or politics for example. Increasingly, such groups will use the internet including chat rooms and gaming forums to test out the views of young people and develop a shared hatred. This process of "recruiting" people is called "radicalisation"

Key Terms

Extremism – vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values such as democracy, the rule of law and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs
Ideology – a set of beliefs

Terrorism – a violent action against people or property, designed to create fear and advance a political, religious or ideological cause

Radicalisation – the process by which a person comes to support and be involved with extremist causes

What to look out for?

A sudden and increased focus on one particular way of thinking or one particular section of society such as a particular religion.

Evidence of very targeted hateful language when the young person talks about a group
The use of negative terms when speaking that you have not heard them use before
Reference to new people whom you have never met and who seem to only interact over the internet
A withdrawal from existing friends and family - over and above what you would expect.

How can you help and support?

Gently probe their thought process if they do express extreme views
Check their internet use in the way that you feel is best as a family. For example, does their browser reveal specific focused searches for specific material?
Find out from those closest friends whether they have noticed any of the changes you have noticed
Get in touch with the school for a chat to see if we have noticed anything
